Information for Health Care Providers

Viewlet Transcript Sections: NPI Background Information: Introduction, NPPEs, NPI

This is a transcript of the NPI viewlet. For ease of organization, the viewlet's transcripts have been divided into three separate sections, joined together here into one document: NPI Background Information; Individual NPI Application Process, and Organization NPI Application Process. The electronic version of the viewlet is organized in a similar fashion.

In general, the viewlet is organized such that two rows of tabs stretch horizontally across the top of the screen. These tabs can be selected to help the reader to navigate to different sections of the viewlet.

The main content material for the viewlet is presented below the rows of tabs, and is described on the transcript under the Page Text heading of each screen.

The navigation controls are placed horizontally across the bottom of the screen. They are described in detail in the Introduction section of the viewlet, on the Navigation pages.

Are you drowning in a sea of provider numbers? Do you have to keep track of many different identifiers, provider numbers, Provider Identification Numbers (PINs), Unique Physician Identifier Numbers (UPINs)? Do you forget which number to use with which payer?

If your answer is yes, HELP IS ON THE WAY!

Hyperlink: Definition of PIN and UPIN opens a box in a separate window

Text Box Explanatory Aid 1: Provider Identification Numbers (PINs) and Unique Physician Identification Numbers (UPINs) are used to bill Medicare and can vary for different circumstances. After a PIN is assigned by The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), a provider’s information is electronically submitted to the National UPIN Registry. The Registry reviews the information and assigns the provider a UPIN number. A provider should be given a single number to identify him/her as a health care practitioner. This UPIN does not change even if the provider moves from state to state.

A “viewlet” is a web-based product designed to convey information in a fast-paced, interactive, and interesting format. It is often used to teach a process such as filling out forms, or how to troubleshoot a problem, but is equally useful for conveying well organized information.

The purpose of this viewlet is to describe the National Provider Identifier (NPI) the standard unique health care provider identifier that must be accepted by all health plans. The viewlet will explain the NPI, provide a brief description of the system behind the NPI, and lastly, will lead you through the NPI application process.

The National Plan and Provider Enumeration System (NPES) is a central electronic enumerating system developed by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). It is designed to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of Medicare and Medicaid programs and the national health care system in general.

All health care providers, whether individuals or organizations, are eligible to receive National Provider Identifiers (NPIs), which are designed to be lifelong identifying numbers. All health plans must accept and use NPIs on or before May 23, 2007, except small health plans have until May 23, 2008. The result? Simpler electronic transmission of health-related standard transactions.

Graphic: Composite photo of a metal lock and key (like a gym lock) in the lower right foreground. In the background is a field (white lettering on blue) of rows of 0s and 1s representing computer code.

Page Text:

The factors driving the development of the NPI process stem from the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA). This federal law requires the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to:

- □ Establish standards for the electronic exchange of health care data;
- Establish standard unique health identifiers for health care providers, health plans, and employers; and
- □ Specify the standards required to protect the security and privacy of protected health information.

On January 23, 2004, the NPI Final Rule was published. It adopted the NPI as the standard unique health identifier for health care providers, placed requirements on covered entities concerning the NPI, and set the effective date and the compliance dates for the NPI.

The NPI is a 10-position, intelligence-free numeric identifier (10-digit number). Intelligence-free means that the numbers do not carry other information about health care providers, such as the state in which they live or their medical specialty.

Making the numbers 10 digits long enables enough unique NPIs to last about 200 years, allowing for significant growth in the number of health care providers.

Page Title: When may health care providers begin to apply for their NPIs?

The NPI implementation date is May 23, 2005. That is when the enumeration process will begin. HIPAA covered entities (defined on the next screen) must accept and use NPIs in standard transactions (except small health plans) by May 23, 2007 (24-months after the effective date of the final rule). Small health plans ($5 Million in annual revenues or less) must do so no later than May 23, 2008 (36-months after the effective date of the final rule).

HIPAA covered entities are health plans, health care clearinghouses, and certain health care providers.

All health care providers are eligible to receive NPIs, but covered health care providers are required to receive and use the identifier.

Covered health care providers as defined under HIPAA, are entities that:

1. Meet the definition of health care provider at 45 CFR Section 160.103; and
2. Transmit health information in electronic form on their own behalf, or that use a business associate to do so, in connection with a transaction for which the Secretary of the Health and Human Services has adopted a standard (a covered transaction).

Page Text:

Applying for and receiving an NPI does not mean that you become a covered health care provider. Examples of health care providers who are eligible to receive and use the NPI but who are not covered health care providers might be registered nurses, dental hygienists and technicians. They are health care providers because they furnish health care, but they do not necessarily conduct standard transactions.

Any entity who does not render health care is not eligible for an NPI. Health care is defined in 45 CFR Section 160.103. Examples of entities that are not eligible for NPIs include billing services, value-added networks, re-pricers, health care clearinghouses and atypical service providers, such as carpenters. Although some atypical service providers may be reimbursed by some health plans for their services, their services are not “health care” services.

Some of these components or separate physical locations conduct standard transactions; some might need to be identified in standard transactions even if they don’t conduct them; and some might be required by Federal regulations to have their own billing numbers to be used when billing a Federal health plan such as Medicare. Components and separate physical locations for which these three situations apply may be considered “subparts” of the covered organization health care provider. They are eligible for NPIs.

If the subparts conduct standard transactions, they must obtain and use NPIs in those transactions.

If the subparts are entities that are required by Federal regulations to have billing numbers to use when billing Federal programs such as Medicare, the covered organization health care provider must ensure that those subparts have NPIs so that they can comply with those Federal regulations. After the NPI compliance dates, the NPIs will replace those billing numbers.

The legal entity (i.e., the covered organization health care provider), is the covered entity. It is ultimately responsible for complying with the NPI Final Rule and for ensuring that its subparts, if assigned NPIs, also comply.

For example, a hospital might have an emergency room that bills for its services separately. The hospital gets an NPI as the legal entity; the emergency room (ER), as a subpart of the hospital would get an NPI. The hospital is responsible for ensuring that the ER complies with the NPI Final Rule.

The covered organization health care provider has to decide if it has a subpart or multiple subparts, and if they must be assigned NPIs. If so, it must either apply for the NPIs for its subparts or instruct its subparts to apply for NPIs themselves.

Page Text:

It is unnecessary to consider entities as subparts beyond the situations described earlier unless the covered organization health care provider has a business need for such assignment. For example, it is not necessary for a group practice to determine that each of its multiple practice locations be subparts and assigned NPIs in order to report the service location in the standard professional claims transaction. That transaction captures this information without the assignment of an NPI to every practice location address.

Health care providers pay nothing to apply for and be assigned NPIs. Federal funds will support the cost of the enumeration process and the NPPES.

Covered entities will incur costs, however, in implementing the NPI. These costs will generally be initial up-front costs for software and system changes. Business associates will incur costs for similar activities. These costs will diminish after the initial enumeration period. In the long-term the use of a standard identifier will be cost-effective.

Viewlet Transcript – NPI Application Section: Individual

This is a transcript of the NPI viewlet. For ease of organization, the viewlet’s transcripts have been divided into three separate sections, joined together here into one document: NPI Background Information; Individual NPI Application Process, and Organization NPI Application Process. The electronic version of the viewlet is organized in a similar fashion.

In general, the viewlet is organized such that two rows of tabs stretch horizontally across the top of the screen. These tabs can be selected to help the reader to navigate to different sections of the viewlet.

The main content material for the viewlet is presented below the rows of tabs, and is described on the transcript under the Page Text heading of each screen.

This section of the “viewlet” will walk you through the process of applying for the NPI but it is not the actual application. It is a practice exercise only. Later in the “viewlet” you will be provided with the information you need to obtain the actual application form.

During the walkthrough of the NPI application process in the “viewlet”, you will notice that some information will show up on your screen in “speech bubbles”. The information contained in the speech bubble pertains to the specific part of the form to which the “tail” of the bubble points. In other cases, you will have the option to click on a speech bubble to obtain additional information that will show up on your screen in a box. You will also see “bogus” information filled in automatically on the form as an example.

The form shown in the following screen shots is the NPI Application/Update Form. It is used both to apply for a new NPI and to let the NPPEs know when pertinent information has changed.

Viewlet Transcript – NPI Application Section: Organization

This is a transcript of the NPI viewlet. For ease of organization, the viewlet’s transcripts have been divided into three separate sections, joined together here into one document: NPI Background Information; Individual NPI Application Process, and Organization NPI Application Process. The electronic version of the viewlet is organized in a similar fashion.

In general, the viewlet is organized such that two rows of tabs stretch horizontally across the top of the screen. These tabs can be selected to help the reader to navigate to different sections of the viewlet.

The main content material for the viewlet is presented below the rows of tabs, and is described on the transcript under the Page Text heading of each screen.

The navigation controls are placed horizontally across the bottom of the screen. They are described in detail in the Introduction Section of the viewlet, on the Navigation pages.

NPI Application Section: Introduction Subsection: Screen 1

Page Title: How do I apply for my NPI?

This “viewlet” will walk you through the process of applying for the NPI but it is not the actual application. It is a practice exercise only. Later in the “viewlet” you will be provided with the information you need to obtain the actual application form.

During the walkthrough of the NPI application process in the “viewlet”, you will notice that some information will show up on your screen in “speech bubbles”. The information contained in the speech bubble pertains to the specific part of the form to which the “tail” of the bubble points. In other cases, you will have the option to click on a speech bubble to obtain additional information that will show up on your screen in a box. You will also see “bogus” information filled in automatically on the form as an example.

The form shown in the following screen shots is the NPI Application/Update Form. It is used both to apply for a new NPI and to let the NPPES know when pertinent information has changed.

Text Instruction Callout 1: [Section 3D] D. Provider Taxonomy (Provider/Classification and specialization, Required), (Required); License number and the State where the license was issued– Provide your 10-digit taxonomy code. Information on taxonomy codes is available at www.wpc-edi.com/taxonomy. Or, you may provide a written description (e.g., home health agency) in the space provided, and we will assign the closest appropriate code. Provide your health care license number(s) if applicable and the State(s) where issued.

Text Instruction Callout 2: [Section 3D] A health care provider that is an organization, such as a hospital, may obtain an NPI for itself, and for any subparts that it determines need to be assigned NPIs. In some cases the subparts have Provider Taxonomy Codes that may be different from that of the hospital and of each other, and each subpart may require separate licensing by the State (e.g., General Acute Care Hospital and Psychiatric Unit).

Text Instruction Callout 3: [Section 3D] If the Organization Provider chooses to include these multiple Provider Taxonomy Codes in a request for a single NPI, and later determines that the subparts should have been assigned their own NPIs with their associated Provider Taxonomy Codes, the organization provider must delete from the NPI record any Provider Taxonomy Codes that belong to the subparts who will be obtaining their own NPIs. The organization provider must do this by initiating the Change of Information option on this form.

Text Instruction Callout 4: [Section 3D License Number] D. Please click here to view which organizations are also required to submit a license number: Provide your license number(s) and State(s) where issued.
